About This Book

Pirates come to school each day with backpacks full of books.

They hang their pirate swords up in the coatroom on the hooks!

These pirates want to learn how to read and do math. This is as much fun as a game of “walk the plank”! They bring their parrots, make new friends and listen to teachers all day long. For show-and-tell they show off their pirate treasure and make sure none of the other pirates tries to plunder it. But before they leave each day, they have to make sure to clean up after themselves — and their birds!
