

Booktalk!

Radiance Script

For this Book Talk you will need:

- A volunteer
- A clipboard that volunteer will be referring to
- A copy of Radiance, we suggest reviewing pages 4-5 before you begin to help you prepare for your character.

(Start your Book Talk pretending to read from the book, then look up, smile, close the book and put it down.)

Hello everyone and welcome to Here, where the time is always Now. (Pause) As you all know, you have finally crossed the bridge from the earth plane and have left behind your old lives. In other words (pause), you are dead.

Don't be frightened; being Here and Now is a wonderful place to be. Here you can manifest anything you want. Really, anything. Say you want a new house, or a car, or animals, or life on a beach. It can all be yours simply by imagining it.

Let's say you're on your way to school and suddenly you don't like your clothes anymore. No problem, just imagine a new outfit and voilà! It's really that simple.

But don't get too comfortable just yet. The afterlife isn't all cloud lounging and harp playing. You will each be assigned a job sometime in the near future, and will be required to fulfill that job. For example, you could become a Soul Catcher and help reluctant souls cross the bridge to Here. It's a tough job, but somebody has to do it.

I wish you all luck adjusting to your new lives. (Reader smiles and turns away...starting to walk out...but then turns back to the audience) Oh, I almost forgot! You can stop breathing if you wish. It's not necessary Here.
